

More of Dmitri

IT'S NOW CONFIRMED that such is the interest in the young Russian baritone, Dmitri Hvorostovsky, who won the BBC Cardiff Singer of the World competition last year, that a second Dublin date has been arranged for his fans by opera promototer Barra Ó Tuama, the man who invented glasnost. The extra date, for a special recital of Italian opera favourites, will be on Friday, February 9, at the RDS. The young man who is literally taking the serious music world by storm sold out the National Concert Hall in Dublin and City Hall in Cork within hours of the announcement of his Irish tour.